Coast Swimmer Conquers Channel; Shirley Gives Up Short Of Goal

EDERLE MARK IS BEATEN BY CALIFORNIAN

Florence Chadwick, of San Diego, Makes Crossing in 13 Hours and 28 Minutes

GREATEST IN HISTORY

Dover, England, Aug. 8—(P)—Florence Chadwick, San Diego swimmer, conquered the English channel today in record time but Shirley May France was forced to give up eight miles off shore.

Miss Chadwick, who is 31 and a professional swimmer, cut the women's record set by Gertrude Ederle in 1926. She made it in 13 hours 28 minutes, one hour and three minutes under the Ederle mark.

She swam to Dover from Cap Gris Nez, France, on a course of at least 22 miles and scrambled ashore through sea weed.

Thousands of persons lined the White Cliffs of Dover. Reporters asked Miss Chadwick if she was all right.

"Yes," she said, "but these slippery, jagged rocks are not so good to scramble over after a long swim."

"I feel fine and am quite prepared to swim back."

When she was only a quarter mile out, she had been asked if she wanted to rest her legs.

"No fear," she answered, laughing. "I'll keep going now. It looks only another yard or so to the finish."

She actually did not touch dry land, at the end.

A few feet from the shore line, under the 250-foot cliffs, she clambered into one of her row boats. But no one doubted that she had finished her swim and made it one of the greatest in the history of channel attempts.

She was not far short of the channel swim standards—of the recognized men's record of 11:05 set by Francois Georges Michel in 1926.

Miss Chadwick was the third American woman to make this crossing—18 miles as the crow flies, but actually much farther in swimming distance because of the sweep of tides.

The others were Miss Ederle and Mrs. Mille Gade Carson, who crossed in 1926 in fifteen hours and twenty eight minutes.

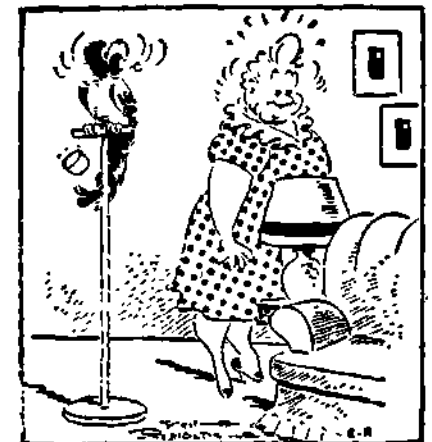

Shirley May France, the 17-year-old girl from Somerset, Mass., had been swimming 13 hours 46 minutes when she gave up. She was sobbing as she was pulled from the water, within sight of the white cliffs.

Miss Chadwick left France in the darkness 19 minutes ahead of Shirley May.

A long-time champion swimmer, Miss Chadwick completed her first race when she was six years old. In 1941 she turned professional to appear in the film "Bathing Beauty" with Esther Williams. For the past two years, while working for an oil company in Saudi Arabia, she trained constantly, often getting up before dawn for a two-hour swim before going to work. On days off she swam eight to ten hours. The restaurant run by Miss Chadwick's father in San Diego is adorned with about 75 trophies and 250 medals won by his daughter.

Initial Steps Taken To Improve Water Main and Lighting Systems In Warren

Initial steps have been taken toward improving Warren borough's water main and street lighting systems, it was reported last night at the August meeting of town council.

Fire Committee Chairman Wayne Painter reported the Warren Water Company has started preliminary work for installation of a second water main across the Allegheny river to serve the South Side area. The new main will be located about 20 or 30 yards downstream from the Hickory street bridge.

This was one of the prime recommendations made by council for improving the fire fighting facilities in the borough. It was felt that a second main across the river should be in place as a reserve in case anything happened to the South Side.

Painter said virtually all of the pipe and valves needed to lay the main have arrived and that actual construction is expected to start soon.

The Water Company also is drafting plans for carrying out numerous other suggestions for extending and improving the fire hydrant system in several sections of the borough to provide more adequate protection for industries, public buildings and private homes.

The proposed improvements to the borough's street-lighting system are still in the talking stage.

Councilman R. H. Truster, chairman of the Public Service and Ordinance Committee, distributed copies of a complete lighting survey of the borough to councilmen last night for study.

The survey was made by Pennsylvania Electric Engineers under supervision of Joseph Riesenman, of Meadville. The report goes into considerable detail on present lighting and Penelco recommendations.

Small Crowd On Hand To Greet Co. I Arrival During Early Morning Hours

Company I, 8th Division, 112th Infantry, Pennsylvania National Guard their previously scheduled two-weeks' encampment at Indian-town Gap shortened by a call to federal service, returned home about 3:30 o'clock this morning. Despite the hour a large number of relatives and friends of members of the Guard were on hand to welcome the boys.

The Guardsmen marched to the State Armory in Hickory street where coffee and doughnuts, prepared by Company cooks who came to Warren in advance of the unit, awaited them. They were dismissed about six a. m. and most of them retired promptly to their homes, although a few who reside

Borough council, meeting last night in the Municipal building, cleared the way for something to be done about the putrid smell that has caused a lot of people to wrinkle up their noses in the vicinity of the old mill race.

The odor comes from a broken main sewer in Liberty street under the mill race bridge.

The sewer has been in a sad state of disrepair for many months, and the solons have tried repeatedly to interest some firm in taking a contract to repair the sewer. However, on several occasions when there were no bidders; on other occasions, the bids were far in excess of borough engineer estimates for the work, and were rejected.

Council then wrapped up a big sewer project into one bundle, and advertised the work as a unit, much in the same manner as the street paving project is now being handled. The work includes, in addition to the Liberty street main, sanitary sewers in Muir, Bauer and Redwood streets, and storm sewers in Brook and Redwood streets.

The Keystone Construction Company of Meadville submitted a bid of $31,721.50 for the sewer at last night's council session, and this bid was accepted on recommendation of the Sewer Committee. Biggest share of the contract is a $17,280 allotment for the Liberty street sewer. The cost for this project runs far greater than other sewers because the new main has to be placed under the piers of the mill race bridge.

The solons also passed on three readings ordinances providing for extending present sanitary sewers in Lexington avenue, and in Canton street.

Borough council awarded a contract last night to the Playtiff Equipment Corp. for furnishing a 1000-seat portable bleacher unit for War Memorial at a cost of $3816. Delivery will be made within 30 days.

This action touched off a lively discussion among the solons, with E. W. Patchen asking S. E. Kuhre, chairman of the parks and playgrounds committee, where the money was coming from to buy the bleachers.

Kuhre explained that the borough, by providing some seating arrangement at the field, would be able to derive some income from the field through the seven percent of paid admissions rental fee and the 22 percent of gross receipts from the concessionaire. Patchen said he thought the rental fee for the field was too low, and should be in the neighborhood of 25 percent.

Council President W. E. Rice said the rental fee, fixed by council several months ago, was in line with fees charged by other municipalities. Rental for the James-town Municipal Stadium, including lights and all utilities, runs on a sliding scale from eight to 12 percent, he said.

Patchen and Klinefelter cast dissenting votes on purchasing the bleachers, but 12 other solons present voted in the affirmative and the motion carried.

Carnival Lighting For Yule Season Is Planned By C. of C. Retailers Committee

The Retailers Committee of the Warren Chamber of Commerce held their regular monthly dinner meeting last evening.

It is announced by Ben Kinnear, retail chairman, and Carl Lundahl, sub-chairman of the Christmas lighting and decorating committee, that the majority of retailers returning the Christmas lighting questionnaire which was mailed out recently, are in favor of carnival street lighting at four or five of the main street intersections for the coming holiday season, so it was decided at this meeting that plans will go forward at once towards the accomplishment of this fine project which will surely add much to the holiday appearance of our community.

The cost of this lighting material will be considerable for the first year, but after the light strings and other equipment are once purchased, they will last many years, and more can be added each year if desired.

The retailers are to be commended for instigating this worthwhile community project and they are in hopes that financial support will be extended from local industry, professional men, and other interested citizens.

Anyone wishing to help in a financial way should get in touch with Ben Kinnear, Carl Lundahl or the Chamber of Commerce office.

The names of eight new retail members of the C. of C. were announced as having joined up since last month's meeting.

"Seoul City Sue" Is Red Propagandist

U. S. 8th Army Headquarters in Korea, Aug. 8—(P)—A Red Korean "Tokyo Rose" began propaganda broadcasts in good American English last night from Seoul, Communist-held capital of South Korea.

Like the Tokyo Rose broadcasts of the second World War, the aim is to undermine soldier morale.

Seoul's woman propagandist chided U. S. airmen for what she called "promiscuous bombing of schools and strafing of farmers." In honeyed tones she urged American soldiers to "return to your corner ice cream stores in the States."

A 558th Military Police Company radio picked up the broadcast. Enlisted men immediately nicknamed her "Seoul City Sue."

The identity of the woman was not known here. She spoke with a slight accent that M. P. listeners could not identify.

Controls Pegged To The Cost of Living Studied By House

Washington, Aug. 8—(P)—The House went into a third round today on the question of automatic wage-price-rationing controls, pegged to the cost of living.

It returned to the big home front problem after the senate banking committee voted late last night to give virtually full direction to President Truman as to when or whether, to impose such controls.

The senate committee approved substantially the kind of a controls bill—discretionary not automatic—Mr. Truman has said he would accept.

Meanwhile, capitol hill heard that the president has made up his mind to ask congress for an excess profits tax on corporations—an anti-inflation step that he has not considered up to now as necessary. While such a request remained subject to developments, close associates said he plans as of now to go ahead with it.

Last week the house approved—and later reversed the action—a plan to invoke wage and price controls automatically when living costs rise 5 per cent. It backtracked after Mr. Truman objected that this would amount to an "invitation to raise prices to 5 per cent."

The original proposal was up again today, however, in the form of an amendment by Rep. McKinnon (D-Calif.) to the administration's economic controls bill. McKinnon's proposal would require wage and price controls to be slapped on if the cost of living increases 5 per cent above what it was on June 15. The controls would be based on the June 10-25 levels.

Anti-Sabotage Message Going To Congress

Washington, Aug. 8—(P)—Speaker Rayburn said today President Truman may send an anti-sabotage message to congress later in the day.

Rayburn made his announcement shortly after he and Vice President Barkley conferred with President Truman along with Senate Majority Leader Lucas and House Majority Leader McCormack.

Rayburn would not discuss details of the president's message.

"It deals with security, sabotage and Communists," the speaker told reporters. He said the president probably will ask for additional legislation.

CORPORATION TAX PLANNED BY PRESIDENT

Close Associates Say Truman Planning to Ask Multi-Billion Dollar Levy

TO HIT EXCESS PROFITS

Washington, Aug. 8—(P)—Close associates said today President Truman has made up his mind to ask congress for a multi-billion dollar excess profits tax on corporations.

This word reached capitol hill as some members of his own party threatened to go beyond the president and tack on an "anti-profiteering" levy on the $5,000,000,000 "first installment" general tax boost the president requested to help pay for arming against Communists' aggression.

Mr. Truman did not mention an excess profits levy in his first request for more taxes, at the outbreak of the Korean war. His reported intention now to call for one was subject, of course, to developments.

A drive had developed in congress to put it into law, without his recommendation, just as support piled up for a similar movement to give him economic powers—over prices and wages—broader than he requested.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) and Rep. Mills (D-Ark.) each is waiting for the opportune time to call for showdowns on an excess profits tax. O'Mahoney said he has in mind an "anti-profiteering" levy that would collect about $4,000,000,000 a year.

It is not certain whether something bordering on a stampede "to take the profits out of war," as sponsors put it, will be averted now by word that the president himself intends to ask for the profits tax later.

Mills said "if congress is going to authorize ceilings on wages and prices it certainly must put a ceiling on profits."

Meanwhile, the new general tax bill—being built around Mr. Truman's $5,000,000,000 request—began to take shape in the senate finance committee.

Thousands of Enemy Troops Slip Across Nakdong River In New Threat On Central Front

Southern Front: Marines and Infantry gather new momentum for first U. N. offensive, start moving under fierce Red artillery fire after 10-mile advance toward Chinju.

Central Front: Thousands of Red troops swarm across Nakdong river east of Kumbon for grave threat to Taegu, a key to U. S. defenses in Korean beachhead, and more Reds mass behind them. Red tanks on move. About 30 miles to the south, Americans are ordered to wipe out Red bridgehead across the river.

Northern Front: Reds exert pressure on South Korean troops but counterattack contains them as Allied warships rake installations in Red held Yongjuok area.

Air and Sea War: Airmen attack Seoul railroads while Army, Navy and Marine fighters and bombers smash hard at enemy troop concentrations and positions along front. American warships attack Tanchon, 125 miles north of 38th parallel. British, Dutch and South Korean warships give pasting to Inchon, Seoul's port.

Lake Success: Russia faces new defeat in Security Council, believed ready to use 44th veto to turn away American proposals on Korea.

Washington: House begins third round on question of automatic wage-price controls to halt inflation during Korean action. President reported ready to ask corporation excess profits tax. Marine Corps calls up 80,000 volunteer reserves, boosting strength to 200,000.

Tokyo, Aug. 8—(P)—Thousands of Red troops slipped across the Allied Nakdong river defense barrier and posed a new swarming threat tonight on the central warfront in Korea.

The American offensive in the south picked up new momentum after being stalled by Communist flanking that pocketed one U. S. Army unit briefly.

An announcement from the U. S. 8th Army in Korea said the Red breaching of the Nakdong water line was of "primary concern at present."

At least three Red regiments—9,000 men with probably more coming over in darkness—were reported across the river.

Front reports said the Reds had one tank across and were trying to bring over others that were seen on the west banks. They were facing a big problem in ferrying their armor.

The river-crossing Reds were 15 miles northwest of Taegu and moving toward that provisional capital of the South Korean Republic.

The two-day-old American drive in the extreme south was bogged temporarily by a Red flanking attack.

Seoul Is Raked By Squadron of U. S. F-80 Jet Bombers

Tokyo, Aug. 8—(P)—American F-80 jets roared down over Seoul today and shot up rail yards at the key transportation hub.

One squadron scored several hits on a pontoon bridge across the Han river, the Far East Air Force summary said. It also straddled anti-aircraft positions.

General MacArthur's headquarters said the Red Korean flak was the heaviest and most accurate of the war.

Seoul was hit yesterday by B-29s. Fighter planes smashed Red Korean battle lines and communications on the southern front in support of the American offensive.

The biggest B-29 strike was a 450-ton bomb load dumped on the arsenal and rail yards at Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

A smaller B-29 force punished Wonsan, east coast industrial area, with 80 tons of bombs.

A Far East air forces summary said a total of 550 sorties were made by all types of planes, including cargo carriers. The Fifth Air Force said its pilots contributed 419 of the sorties, 366 of them combat missions.

Grand Jury Probes Free Work Charges

Pittsburgh, Aug. 8—(P)—The widow of an obscure stonemason whose death threatens to rock the city administration, again today will go before a grand jury probing free work charges.

Mrs. Josephine Dileisi, widow of Salvatore Dileisi, testified three hours before the grand jury as the probe got underway yesterday.

Whether the investigation continues under the jurisdiction of District Attorney William R. Hausheer, may be settled sometime after 4 p. m.

By that time the Allegheny county district attorney must present to Chief Justice James B. Drew reasons why the state supreme court should not stay his proceedings.

August Grand Jury Advises Purchase Of New Property

The August grand jury was dismissed yesterday afternoon after a one-day session in which two true bills were returned and recommendation of the purchase of the Schimmelfeng property west of the Court House made.

The true bills concerned Clair H. Smith, of Renovo, arrested on April 15, 1950 by state police and charged with drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

Smith is alleged to have struck cars operated by Clifford N. Clark, 350 E. Fifth avenue, and Elwood Anderson, of Eldred RD 2, west of Warren on Route 6, and left the scene in each case without stopping. He was caught on Route 6 near Irvine bridge.

Adopting a suggestion made in the Times-Mirror some time ago, the jury recommended purchase of the Schimmelfeng property, located just west of the Court House property on Fourth avenue, for the sum of $12,000.

Judge Wade, in a short session of court yesterday afternoon, sentenced Clifford Anderson, Struthers street, on a charge of drunken driving after Anderson entered a plea of guilty. He was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and costs of prosecution, and to undergo imprisonment in Warren county jail for 31 days.

John G. Donovan acted as foreman of the grand jury, and Keith E. Chase as its secretary.

More than 58,000,000 acres of land are under cultivation in Canada.

YOUNGVSILLE
Youngsville, Aug. 8 — Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jones were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hammond, Kenmore, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adameck and son, Erie, have also been guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jones. They and the Joneses are leaving today for Altoona, Bethesda, Md., and Richmond, Va., where they will visit relatives for a week. Mrs. Jones' mother, Mrs. Tilda Hendrickson, remains quite ill at her home, and during absence of the Jones family will be cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hendrickson. Mrs. Hendrickson extends her thanks to the many friends who have remembered her with cards and flowers during her illness.

The Red Circle is holding a picnic-meeting on Island Park today. Despite the fact that the new roads are being built at many places in U. S. A. and detours are a part of the trips, Youngsville folks are traveling this summer. Many have visited Canada. Big ball games in Pittsburgh or Cleveland bring out the Youngsville ball fans. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tellman recently visited California. Several Youngsville families have visited Florida this season, one of the latest to make the trip being Harold Culver and family.

On recommendation of the Parks and Playgrounds committee, council also voted to continue the seven percent of paid admissions assessment for Warren High School football at War Memorial field. It was pointed out that considerable expense is involved in cleaning up the field and in making permanent improvements.

This matter came up for consideration when the council president said he had received a request from school authorities to either waive the rental fee altogether or reduce it for Dragon games.

Three petitions from property owners asking paving of Monroe street, North Irvine street and Hazel street between Fourth and Fifth avenues were received and referred to the New Projects Committee for action.

Another petition from West End residents asking parking be limited to one side of Pennsylvania avenue west of the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing also was received and referred to the police committee for consideration.

C. A. Miller, chairman of the City Buildings Committee, reported that permits were issued during July for new construction and alterations and repairs valued at more than $400,000.

Included in the permits were $59,000 for the Warren Industrial and Development Corporation, which is building the new Sylvan plant on the East Side; $250,000 for the Warren Apartments, Inc., which will soon start construction on a 50-unit apartment building on the H. R. Fisher property at 209 Market street; and $22,000 for the Printz Co. for remodeling its store at 214 Second avenue.

The City Buildings Committee was authorized to grant use of the Municipal building for the semi-annual Orthopedic Clinic to be held sometime in October.

On motion of Chairman Kline-silver, the Streets committee was authorized to spend up to $200 for purchase of a new cinder spreader for use on borough streets during the winter months. He also reported that his committee was conferring with Glade Township supervisors on the water drainage problem on McPherson street, and that he felt something could be worked out along the line of a storm sewer to the borough line and then stone-lined ditches in Glade township.

Wayne Painter, chairman of the fire committee, reported the Civil Service Commission had given a test for drivers for fire trucks and recommended that David Main, who made the highest mark in the examination, be promoted from fireman to driver. The committee's recommendation was accepted.

The Civil Service Commission also was authorized to hold examinations and prepare lists of men eligible for the positions of patrolmen on the police force and also for city firemen.

Painter also invited solons to a public demonstration of fire equipment to be held near War Memorial field tomorrow evening at 5:30 o'clock. The firefighters will stage a nine-phase demonstration of their work as the climax to a 75-day intensive training and refresher program.

The Fire Committee also was authorized to meet with volunteer fire departments in neighboring communities to see what can be done in the way of mutual cooperation in the event of disasters, or any emergencies that might arise from the war situation. Council President Rice said this is one project that has needed attention for a long time and that he felt a lot could be done in the way of cementing better relationships between the borough fire department and volunteer companies.

Chairman Patchen, of the Side-walks and Bridges committee, reported that nearly all of the material has arrived for repair of the Fifth avenue bridge across Conewago creek, and that the Conn Welding and Machine Co. of New Castle expects to start this work within a few days. He said the Fifth avenue bridge will be repaired and a new floor laid first, after which a new floor will be placed on the Third Avenue span.

Council also heard a request from Dr. Elizabeth Beatty for the borough to take over a private paved street, off Division street, which has been constructed just off Conewago avenue.

Small Crowd on Hand To Greet Co. 1 Arrival

Indiantown Gap, Aug. 8—(P)—Local units of Pennsylvania's 28th Infantry Division today mapped plans for a full-scale recruiting drive.

The aim is to bring the division up to full strength before induction into federal service. That will be about Sept. 1.

Total men in the ranks stood at about 10,000 yesterday as the Division broke camp here and headed for home after an abbreviated 10 day summer training period.

The regular two-week training session was pared down after the Division was altered for active service with the U. S. Army.

The recruiting campaign will be carried on mainly at the local unit level. Meanwhile, the troops will keep in shape by attending three, two-hour periods a week in their local armories.

Recruits may have to fill some possible vacancies left by Guardsmen who fail to pass Army physical examinations, which also must come before induction.

As the encampment closed here, headquarters reported that it cost the U. S. Army above $1,000,000 to operate the 10-day training camp.

More than one-half of this, or $600,000, went for the payroll. Travel expenses took another $123,000. Other large items were gasoline ammunition, and rations.

The food cost alone averaged approximately 97 cents a day per man or a total of about $98,940 for the 10 days.

Miss Chadwick began swimming at 2:37 a. m. and her last stroke was timed at 4:05 p. m. (10:45 a. m.) Eastern Standard Time.

She had the triumph, and Shirley May had the tears.

Shirley May's coach, Harry Boudakian, and her manager, Ted Wornor, begged her to quit.

"Please, please, come out," said Wornor. "Harry knows what's best for you."

"But it's so near," Shirley May cried. "It's only three hours."

"More like six hours," Boudakian replied.

The boats about her closed in, in a tight circle. She argued and pleaded, all the time eluding the outstretched arms.

"You'll have another try," Boudakian said. "You can't get in on the tide now. It's too late."

Shirley sobbed bitterly.

"Everyone is going to think I'm a flop," she cried.

Boudakian replied. "If I thought you could do it I wouldn't take you out."

Then the coach made it a command. At last Shirley May took his hand. She collapsed.

Alfonso Cruz, a Guatemalan Channel swimming candidate who was in the boat with her party, jumped into the water and lifted Shirley May into the rowboat. She was limp. Shirley regained full consciousness slowly. She smiled wanly at her handlers. Then the tears flowed silently.

tions for the main business section, the secondary business section and through and local traffic streets, and the residential sections.

The survey points out, Truster said, that the borough's lighting system now comprises 547 lamps and a 1,110,000 lumens rating. The lamps average 400 feet apart, and in some instances, the distance between street lights is 800 feet.

Penelec recommendations, he said, call for a total of 726 lamps with a 2,730,000 lumens rating, and not more than 350 feet between lights. He said the additional cost to the borough would be about $8040 per year, and that it would take between two and three years, depending on availability of materials, to complete the modernization work.

Thousands of Enemy Troops
Slip Across Naktong River

But U. S. Marines broke it up to rescue several hundred trapped men of the Army's Fifth Regimental combat team.

U. S. forces were 10 to 12 miles east of burned-out Chinju, Red springboard for threats at Pusan, the U. S. southeastern port. The Americans were moving on toward Chinju in new advances.

The front had exploded into three major battles.

The big one was northwest of Taegu.

Another flamed in the extreme south.

The third was at a Red bridgehead across the Naktong near Changnyong where fresh U. S. troops were ordered to destroy the river-crossers by Tuesday night-fall.

The Communists had advanced two miles or more in some sectors across the river in the Yang-gi sector. Seven Red tanks, waiting to move over the river, were under top-priority American air attack.

But after fighting part of the way up a ridge, the fresh counter-attacking U. S. 24th Infantry Division troops were stopped by stiff Red resistance.

One of General MacArthur's intelligence officers estimated North Korean losses in six weeks were 44,500 men—an average of more than 1,000 a day in the six-week-old war.

When the fresh army troops were thrown at the remnants of two regiments near Changnyong two American Mustangs joined the attack and strafed the U. S. doughboys, hitting 19 of them.

Across the Korean peninsula American naval firepower grew bigger and bolder. Five American warships led by a heavy cruiser made their northernmost thrust Monday night to bombard Taichon, a rail center 125 miles north of the 38th Parallel.

This thrust far into enemy waters brought big naval guns into a battle zone previously harassed and pounded by American bombers.

Along the west coast British, American, Dutch and South Korean warships turned their guns on Inchon, the west coast port for Seoul.

Marine and Navy pilots from three American carriers roared over the battle lines Monday in ground support attacks integrated with land-based fighters and light bombers.

SHIP IN DISTRESS
New York, Aug. 8—(AP)—Ships of three nations sped today to help a Norwegian freighter in danger of breaking up in the North Atlantic. The stricken vessel—swept by high seas—is the S. S. Beira, a former American Liberty ship loaded with a cargo of heavy China clay. She normally would carry a crew of about 30.

Her radioed distress signal was picked up here last night by the coast guard.

The message said the ship had sprung a leak, needed help immediately, was going slowly, rolling heavily and shipping water.

"DECISIVE BATTLE" LOOMS—As U. S. reinforcements arrived to bolster the new UN defense line based on the Naktong River (1), the war's decisive battle seemed to be shaping up. In south coast area, Reds were able to make little headway against South Korean units in fighting west of Masan (2). On east coast, South Koreans pushed north after taking Yungdok (3) with U. S. help of Allied naval bombardment. On the west, Reds reportedly reached Wae-wan (4), and Tulsong-dong (5) in drive on strategic transport hub Taegu (6). Communists were building strongholds in Kumchun (7) and Yechon-Andon area (8), apparently in preparation for big-scale fighting.

UNCOMFORTABLE TRAVEL
Clipper ships, though fast and seaworthy, were uncomfortable because they took much water on board, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

SURVEYORS SOUGHT STILL

Tradition has it that the copper mines at Copper Hill, Tenn., were lost to the state of North Carolina because surveyors ran out of liquor when they reached the area. Instead of continuing the state line southwest, they turned due south in the direction of a still.
OFFICIAL "TASTERS"
Poisoning became so common during the decline of the Roman Empire that persons of wealth and rank had "tasters," slaves who did nothing but taste each drink or dish of food before it was consumed.

RED STRATEGY

A war-tested Russian policy—accumulation of a huge stockpile of arms before embarking on a campaign—seems to be paying off for the North Koreans.

Since Russia generally is supposed to have mapped the plans for the attack on the Republic of Korea and to be directing it now by remote control, it is assumed that all the vital planning of supplies was dictated by Russian army experts.

During World War II, Russia sometimes exasperated her western allies by delaying a needed offensive against the Germans for weeks and months. Not until she had built up vast supply dumps, far beyond any foreseeable requirements, would she launch the offensive.

This practice was applied to Russia's satellite army of North Koreans. The jump-off for the invasion was delayed until Red strategists estimated the North Korean army had more than enough material for an Asiatic blitzkrieg against the poorly equipped South Korean army.

The ability of the North Koreans to maintain their offensive at peak intensity now raises a question about an earlier assumption that the Reds' war plan was to complete their conquest before aid could come to the South Koreans. They wouldn't have needed to stockpile mountains of ammunition and hundreds of tanks to beat down an opponent armed with only light defensive weapons intended for internal security.

It seems now they reckoned with the definite possibility the United States would step into the picture.

The North Korean armament stockpile probably had its start when the large Russian army of occupation withdrew from North Korea about two years ago in a political move to hurry the American Occupation Force into pulling out. The Russian force apparently left much of its ammunition, large quantities of weapons and other equipment for the North Korean army which Russia then was starting to form, train and equip.

To this substantial initial stockpile was added vast quantities of other material from surplus stocks of the Russian military. This build-up probably continued up to the moment the Korean war started.

Here And There

Remember back in 1919 when automobiles were just beginning to come into their own, and officials were in the experimental stages trying to decide what regulations were best to govern the local traffic conditions? One of our steady readers hands us a clipping from a Warren paper published in December of that year which says: "That the silent police have been removed from street intersections and there have been no prosecutions for leaving lights off automobiles when the ground is white with snow does not mean the bars are down and reckless driving will be permitted or lights are allowed to be off on dark nights. 'We expect auto drivers to not abuse privileges,' so says Burgess Gregory."

Fifty years ago the highlight of the summer season for a group of Warren's business and professional men was the annual trip of the Conewango Fishing Club to their "rendezvous in Canada." It was August 8, 1900, when the club received the following publicity in the Evening Mirror regarding the excursion to Lake Talon: "The Conewango Fishing Club leaves on its annual pilgrimage to the wilds of Canada, Friday, where for three weeks the several members of the organization will enjoy a respite from business cares. The place selected on the banks of Lake Talon in northern Ontario, is a most healthful one, and is almost entirely isolated from civilization. The temperature is cool and invigorating. The waters abound with fish and game is plentiful in the surrounding forests. The club owns a large store house on the site of their camping grounds, where a complete equipment of tents is kept. A Pullman car has been chartered to convey the party to its destination. The departure will be taken Friday morning at 9:15 over the D. A. V. & P. railroad to Dunkirk, and from there via the Lake Shore to Buffalo, from whence to Niagara Falls, over the Central and from Niagara Falls on the Grand Trunk to North Bay. The trip will be completed from the latter point over the Canadian Pacific. The gentlemen who constitute the party are: L. R. Freeman, W. E. Rice, C. D. Crandall, J. H. Fuelhart, H. E. Mitchell, F. G. King, R. B. Briggs, S. W. Waters, Charles Chase of Russell, H. K. Jacobs, H. M. Putnam, C. J. Reese, C. B. Saylor, C. E. Mead, J. O. Parmies, Warren; Frank Wood, Grand Valley; C. Clawson and Dr. C. C. Flatt, Kinross."

This And That: Hardly seems possible there are but 116 shopping days until Christmas. . . And Labor Day is but four weeks from next Monday. . . Officials of the Warren County Council of Republican Women have sent in a number of names to represent the organization at a national convention to be held in Cleveland, August 30th, and are hopeful that all will be accepted. The Warren Council is believed to be one of the largest in the state and those at the head of it are hopeful that this fact will influence national officials in accepting a large delegation from here. . . Fans who are clamoring for a covered grandstand at War Memorial Field should attend a night game at Flaherty Field, home of the New Castle team in the Middle-Atlantic League, where the only covering over the bleachers back of the home plate is a wire netting to keep spectators from getting beamed by foul balls. There the fans sit under the starlit sky and seem to enjoy it. . . According to Johnny Nelson, in the Bradford Era, this region will have two representatives on the Penn State football squad this fall. They are Dan Van Sickle, Corydon boy, who played his football at Bradford High, and Ted Shattuck, fullback of this city. Both are sophomores and were rivals during High School days. Incidentally football practice for schools in the area is set to start August 19, one week from Friday. . . A note we have received says Mrs. Edith Sealise McLaughlin, formerly a resident of Warren, is making a tour of the east coast states with her husband and two sons. They will visit many of her husband's combat buddies of the Third Infantry Division. Their tour will take them finally into New York City where the children will be able to visit many points of interest to them.

Korean War Gives ECA New Role--Emphasis Put on Military

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—An entirely new role for the Marshall Plan Economic Co-operation Administration is emerging as a result of the Korean war. For its first two and a half years, ECA's main job has been to build up the civilian economy of western Europe. It has concentrated on building up European productive capacity and foreign trade position.

But now that international communism has shown its real hand and its intent to settle things by shooting, instead of by propaganda, Europe will have to step up its arms production.

ECA's goal up to now has been to bring Europe's exports and imports into balance by June, 1952. This would make Europe more or less self-sustaining and reduce its need for dollars. That done, the Marshall Plan could be liquidated.

If Europe is forced to go in for greater arms production, however, that picture will be changed. It will have to curtail its production of consumer goods for export. That will cut down its dollar-earning capacity. And the dollar gap, instead of closing, will open wide again.

As a matter of fact, ECA has been shifting some of its effort from civilian to military production, during the past few months. In the original European military assistance program requested by President Truman a year ago, there was an item of $155,000,000 to help increase European arms production. This was cut out in the Senate, for reasons that were never quite clear.

Anyway, defense planners hit on another means of achieving the same end, through ECA. A fund of $100,000,000 was set up for what became known as AMP—Additional Military Production.

THE way this fund was handled was that if—say, a Swedish anti-aircraft gun manufacturer needed additional machine tools to carry out a contract, the ECA-AMP group would see that the necessary priorities were given to insure delivery.

One other development which is giving ECA a bigger role in the European rearmament picture is the possible use of what are known as "counterpart funds" to increase arms production.

When U. S. Marshall Plan supplies are furnished European countries, they are sold by their governments through private trade channels. Each country takes payment in its local currency, and this money goes into the counterpart fund.

ECA has a control over how these funds are spent. In the main, they have been channeled into increasing the productive capacity for needed civilian supplies. From here on out, a greater proportion of these counterpart funds will be employed to increase European arms production.

Still another shift in ECA policy has been to increase its missions in southeast Asia, so as to help prepare that area against Communist aggression. Money for this effort has come from $150,000,000 originally allocated for the China mainland, but unspent there because of the Red conquest of Nationalist China. Congress has authorized spending of these funds in the general area of China.

Thus while there has been some inclination to write off the Marshall Plan and bury it as a dead duck, since the Korean war broke out, the real story seems to be that it will merely change the character of the job that ECA has been doing.

ECA has built up confidence in Europe and it has a good reputation in Washington, among other government agencies.

Administrator Hoffman has stuck to his original idea that ECA should be liquidated on time, at the end of its four-year span of life. Any premature killing off of the agency, however, or slashing of its funds because of the Korean war, might have a disastrous effect.

Mrs. Pierce Gives Fine Piano Recital At Conservatory

Mrs. Darrell Pierce, of Youngsville, presenting her junior piano recital in Warren Conservatory of Music, was assisted by her husband as tenor soloist and was greeted by a large audience of friends gathered in the concert hall.

She played for her first group, "In the Fatio" by Roper and a Scherzo by Chopin, bringing out in splendid musical relief the contrasting factors of the two pieces.

Her husband, possessing a rich baritone voice, sang two groups: His first two selections were suited to his dramatic style, but he was at his best in Malotte's arrangement of The Lord's Prayer, sung with true musical feeling.

Mrs. Pierce played Dr. LeRoy E. Campbell's piano arrangement of Tipton's beautiful vocal number, "Spirit Flower," giving it a warmth of tone and expression quite out of the ordinary in student work.

Her last number was a concert Fantasy, written by Federer, and played with excellent expression. The technical difficulties, of which there are many in this composition, were met with ease by the pianist. The climaxes were brought out with a fine musical emphasis.

Lillian Swanson furnished an ideal second piano for the concerto while Mrs. Pierce played a fine accompaniment for her husband's songs.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM COTTRELL.—Photo by Stoke

The historic stone church in Irvine was again the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday, August 5, when Elsa Nyberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Nyberg, Irvine, became the bride of William Cottrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cottrell, Detroit, Mich.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 2:30 p. m., by Dr. W. J. Prout, Tidioute, with wedding music by Lillian Swanson, pianist, and Marilyn Loomis, vocalist.

Wearing ice blue satin and lace, the bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Mrs. Robert Clark, Youngsville, as matron of honor. Her gown of pink marquisette over taffeta, as well as the bridal gown, were both designed and made by the bride.

Completing the bridal party were little Sharon Ann Ahlgren, Warren, flower girl for her cousin; Richard Cottrell, Detroit, best man for his brother; Henry and Evert Nyberg, Irvine, brothers of the bride who ushered.

A reception followed in the National Forge clubhouse for 80 guests from Irvine, Youngsville, Warren, Kane, Erie, North East, Detroit and Dearborn, Mich., and Jamestown, N. Y.

After a Canadian wedding trip, the couple will live in Detroit. The bride was graduated from Youngsville High School and the bridegroom from the Ford Trade School, while both are employed by the Ford Motor Company.

Pre-nuptial hostesses were Mrs. Norman Ahlgren, Warren, and Mrs. William Reynolds, Detroit.

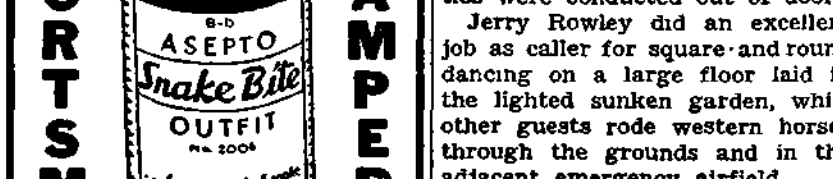

SILVER ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. Harland J. Rue, of Barnes, pictured with their sons, Roger (left) and Harland, 2nd, entertained about 100 Warren friends Saturday afternoon and evening with a delightful food ranch party in observance of their 25th wedding anniversary. Home on leave for the party and serving as an emcee for many of the festivities was their older son, Harland, who is starting his final year at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Western garb and accoutrements were the mode of the moment at the beautiful Rue home, designated for the occasion as the O-Bar-H Ranch. Practically all of the guests were in western attire, two were clad as Indians, and most all were armed with "shootin' arns" ranging from water pistols and capguns to antique rifles and six-shooters. Mr. and Mrs. Emmons Jones made a dashing arrival on their own Glendora Farms horses.

A huge outdoor grill provided charcoal steaks for the party and serving was at long tables on the lawn. Decorations carried out the western theme with cowbells tied with silver ribbons, silvered oxen shoes, evergreen branches and cattle-brand place settings. The Rue's many lovely anniversary gifts were on display in the dining room, but, thanks to Saturday's perfect weather, all activities were conducted out of doors.

Jerry Rowley did an excellent job as caller for square and round dancing on a large floor laid in the lighted sunken garden, while other guests rode western horses through the grounds and in the adjacent emergency airfield.

Baker Pitches No-No Game For Sons of Italy in Sunset Loop

Sons of Italy got off to a flying start in the first two innings to blank the Conewango Township Merchants, 7-0, in a Sunset League game at Jackson field last night. The game goes into the records as a no-hit, no-run contest for Jack (Lefty) Baker, ace of Sons of Italy moundman.

Baker whizzed 12 batters and issued five free passes. It was his third win of the season. Conewango threatened to score in the sixth when Baker issued two free passes and a hit batsman loaded the sacks with one away. However, he settled down and struck out Gray and McGuire in order to end the threat.

F. Gray handled the chucking for Conewango Township. He had five strikeouts, allowed two walks and was nipped for six hits. Nonny Castagnino clouted two doubles and a single in four times at bat for the winners. Weldert and White also had two-ply wallop.

Star-Studded Lineup Carried Phillies to Only N. L. Pennant

Philadelphia — (NEA) — The Whiz Kids are now quite the Philadelphia story.

It's been a long time between drinks.

You have to go back 35 years for the only pennant on the National League side in the big town on the Schuylkill.

William F. Baker, former police commissioner of Brooklyn, and with no more knowledge of baseball than a desultory fan's, took over the Phillies in 1913. He had made a loan to Bill Locke with which the secretary of the Pirates purchased control. Locke died suddenly and Baker moved in to protect his investment.

Baker was grumpy, cold, parsimonious, by his actions interested in the Phillies and baseball only as a means of piling up a personal fortune.

Yet it was under his ownership that the Phillies had their last days of glory and until now the only successful run in the 67 years they have been in the National League.

The Phillies won their lone flag in 1915 with an infield and outfield largely put together with winter trades and the acquisition of Shortstop Dave Bancroft from the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League.

The Phils of that year had one of the greatest batteries of all time—Grover Cleveland Alexander and Bill Killefer.

Tall, freckle-faced, sandy-haired Alexander the Great did it with a sidearm curve, fast ball and amazing control. Of Pete won 31 games that trip, turned in 36 complete jobs, four of them one-hitters. He struck out 241, had an earned-run average of 1.22.

The batting star of the 1915 Phils was Gavy Cravath, now justice of the peace at Laguna Beach in southern California. Cacus Cravath, who six times led the league in that department, hit the then remarkable total of 24 home runs.

He was the forerunner of the slugging era that introduced Babe Ruth.

It was likeable Pat Moran's first year as a manager. He had previously coached under Reddy Jolin.

Beauty Bancroft made the infield. Dode Paskert was a fine enter fielder. Fred Luderus was an accomplished first baseman and utter. Bert Niehoff was the sec-

Frat Team Whips Atlantic, 16 to 4

In a non-league contest at Beaty Field last night, the Phalanx Fraternity softball team handed Smith and Lawton Atlantic a 16 to 4 defeat.

Sonny Andersen handled the mound duty for the frat boys allowing only seven hits, while Gus Roseman was pounded for 21 hits for the losers.

Bob Blair led the Phalanx big sticks, slammung three for four, with G. Odmark, F. Marlett, and S. Andersen each having three for five. Roseman had two for four for the Atlantic squad.

Doubles were hit by F. Marlett and S. Andersen, 2, and triples by A. Anderson, B. Eames, G. Odmark, Marlett, and J. Huber, all of the Phalanx team.

Blaik Makes Good Schedules As Well as Good Cadet Teams

NEW YORK—(NEA)—War veterans and happy fathers are mostly gone from the rapidly upcoming college football scene. New and youthful names will spring into the limelight this fall. But the same old coaches are doing business as usual.

Frank Leahy has a new line about it taking a great team, which it will, to beat this year's edition of Notre Dame.

North Carolina, Purdue, Tulane, Indiana, Michigan State, Navy, Pittsburgh, Iowa and Southern California would form a rugged card for the representatives of any other school, including Oklahoma, but the Irish should go through unbeaten again, further extending their remarkable 36-game streak.

In fairness to Notre Dame, Coach Leahy and Athletic Director Moose Krause, however, it must be explained that the comparative softness of the card is no fault of theirs.

South Bend is the one institution that would gladly hop at the opportunity to tackle one intersectional Titan after another.

A glance at things to come at Army is glaring additional evidence that Earl Blaik's schedule-making matches his coaching.

RED BLAIK pointed for the Michigan match of 1949 from spring practice on, then rested on the Military Academy's laurels.

This trip Blaik again builds his lads physically and psychologically for Michigan—at Yankee Stadium, Oct. 14—this time against Colgate and Penn State. Track meets with Harvard and Columbia then enable the Cadets to work out stiffness and catch their breath for always formidable Penn.

Southern Methodist appears to have the toughest gauntlet to run with Georgia Tech, Ohio State, Missouri, Oklahoma A. and M., Rice, Texas, Texas A. and M., Arkansas, Baylor and Texas Christian. Ohio State is hardly picking its spots with Southern Methodist, Pittsburgh, Indiana, Minnesota, Iowa, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan.

Because of sustained pressure, Navy once more could be over-matched with Maryland, Northwestern, Princeton, Southern California, Penn, Notre Dame, Tulane, Columbia and Army.

But in an over-all check of the schedules, you find ample evidence that the tendency now is definitely against the suicide slide.

Either that or the strength is vastly more evenly distributed than in the days when the boys with lace curtains in the parlor were choosy and the climbers from across the tracks had to take what they could get.

New York Giants Register 16th Triumph in the Past 17 Starts

By The Associated Press

Remember the date—July 20, 1950. It may go down in baseball history as the day the New York Giants began their amazing uphill climb that brought them a pennant.

Win or lose, the Giants' sensational run of 16 victories in 17 games since that momentous day is one of the high spots of the season.

How and why the streak got under way is one of the top sports stories of the year. It developed from a brainchild of Manager Leo Durocher.

On July 19, the Giants had absorbed a couple of unmerciful drubbings at the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals. After taking an 18-4 thumping in the afternoon, they came back to suffer a 10-3 loss at night to sink deeper into sixth place. That made it 13 defeats in their last 14 games.

The weary and groggy Giants dragged their feet into the clubhouse fully prepared for a typical Durocher tongue-lashing. It never came.

Monte Kennedy started for the Giants but it was Jack Kramer who picked up the victory. The veteran righthander did a splendid relief job, holding the Braves scoreless after relieving Kennedy in the first.

Ken Johnson, a Cardinal discard, hung the shutout over his former mates. Making his first start since July 4, the lefthander throttled the Redbirds with two hits.

"Go, out," he said, "and have fun. I don't care what you do or when you get back. The curfew is lifted. Just make sure you show up at the ball park tomorrow."

The result? Sixteen victories in the next 17 games.

It looked like the Giants might drop one last night. They spotted the Braves a 2-1 lead in the first inning but roared back with a 14-hit attack to whip Boston, 9-3.

The triumph boasted the high-flying Giants to within two and a half games of the fourth place Cards, who were buried under a 9-0 score by the pace-setting Philadelphia Phils. They were the only games played in the majors yesterday.

The result left the National League pennant picture looking like this: The Phils lead the field by four games. The Braves are in second place, a half game in front of the Dodgers. The Cards are five and a half games out. The Giants, a new contender, trail by eight games.

LAST CHANCE

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE

Chapter 11

THE next morning, "Rock," after a poor night of tossing and turning, got up to find that the Orioles, playing the Cougars who were still smarting from their Lions defeat, had lost, tossing the Hornets, Lions and Orioles into a three-way tie for last. If he could pull out the next two games, he would have undisputed possession of first place and would have accomplished the almost impossible.

When he arrived at the ball park, the noise in the stands was not unlike that of possibly 15,000 assorted man-eating furious lions. He trotted slowly around the bases, refusing to be intimidated by the growing mob, touched home plate and walked nonchalantly to the dugout.

Tied in the eighth, it looked as though the game would go into extra innings. "Rock" glanced up at the scoreboard and was elated to see that the Orioles had lost the second game to the Cougars, 3-2. Was this a sign? Did it mean the Lions were destined to pull this game out and go on to the pennant all by themselves?

The fans in the stands were silent, too, as the significance of the scoreboard began to register with them. The Hard Losers were in an agony of suspense. The teams began to show the tension, too.

NEVER before had any one seen a game like this one, and maybe never heard of one like it, either. It went seventeen innings and took three hours and fifty-five minutes to play. After those two runs, not a man reached as far as second base. Inning after inning both men pitched flawless ball, until, finally, Froebel broke under the strain. Then all hell broke loose.

The Lions wasted no time pounding Froebel in the seventeenth. Wilkes opened with a single and then stole second. Frank walked and Johnston sacrificed, "Rock's" hit bounced off the shortstop's leg and into the hands of the second baseman, but "Butch" Froebel, and he chopped

Wilkes scored. Thorpe beat out an infield hit and then Frank scored on Mitchell's fly, while Sanger sent "Rock" home with a double screaming into the over-flow crowd on the field. Before Froebel could recover his control and retire the side, the score stood at 4-1 in favor of the Lions. For a few minutes in the Hornet's half of the seventeenth it looked as though they would get them all back. The first man up singled and was safe at second when Johnston threw wild after fielding a beautiful smash into left field. The next man up sacrificed. A hit to the box brought in a run. Then Robinson steadied, and with a pitch that broke from the waist, fanned the next two batters. The Lions had won and the Hard Losers couldn't take two defeats in a row. Their wrath broke loose!

Some of the fans leaped out of the boxes. The mob in the outfield tried to surge forward. One pop bottle hurtled into the field and almost beamed the umpire. He didn't even deign to look around. His mask was off and he held it as a defensive weapon. Hornets flocked around him for protection. The Lions, in their dugout, were waiting with bats in their hands for the melee to become general. Only one familiar with the human race indigenous of those parts can appreciate the scene.

"Rock," looking over the surging, angry mob, decided discretion was the better part of valor. Lining himself up alongside Sanger and Johnston, each holding a bat in readiness, he barked out an order to the rest of the players. "Get that gear together, men, and make for the clubhouse."

Dancing feverishly to their task of collecting bats, gloves and other paraphernalia, they were soon filing out through the door at the rear of the dugout and to the clubhouse, the three forming the rearguard until they were all off the field.

"Phew," sighed "Rock," wiping his brow. "Just one more game and pennant to go. That is, if we escape with our skins whole."

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service "You must be the biggest idiot in the world," said West. "You must be right," said Larceny Lou.

"You realize that all I had to do was put up the ace of spades and you'd have lost the hand," West continued.

"You're perfectly right," said Larceny Lou with suspicious meekness.

Lou was charitable enough to refrain from pointing out that West actually had not set the contract. Although West could have set the contract by putting up his

had a chance to do so. The question was: How could Lou persuade them to refrain from taking their tricks?

If Lou led his singleton spade immediately, West would take the ace of spades at once. He would then see that the defense depended on winning three diamond tricks at once. West would therefore begin, the diamonds immediately, thus defeating the contract.

Lou could not see West's cards but he could see clearly enough that West would have no choice, no matter what he held.

ace of spades, he hadn't done so. And the reason that he hadn't done so was that he gave Larceny Lou credit for making a "sensible" play—exactly as Lou had foreseen.

The play began without fireworks. West opened the ten of clubs, and Larceny Lou, playing the South hand, won with the king. Lou could see at a glance that he was doomed to lose a spade and three diamonds if the defenders took their tricks when they did Lou lead his singleton six of spades!

It was perfectly true that West could now set the contract by taking his ace. As a matter of fact the situation was no different from what it had always been—except in the mind of West.

West could not believe that Lou had deliberately removed dummy's only entry before leading a singleton spade. He was sure that Lou must have a second spade in his hand. In that case it was foolish to play the ace on the first spade since that would give declarer a chance to finesse dummy's king-jack when he played a second round of spades.

Acting on this reasoning, West played a low spade instead of taking his ace.

Naturally Lou put up dummy's king of spades, winning the trick. He was then willing to concede three diamonds to the opponents.

West should not be criticized severely for falling for Lou's deceptive play. From his point of view it was a cinch that South had two spades, and it was quite possible that South also had the king of diamonds. It looked as though West could not lose by ducking the "first" spade and he thought that this play would give declarer a chance to lose three diamond tricks.
